Three Mile Creek Confluence Project Open House

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, CO – The City of Glenwood Springs invites the community to participate in the planning efforts for the Three Mile Creek and Roaring Fork River confluence at an open house on Saturday, July 20 from 10AM-2PM. Community members are welcome to drop in anytime during the open house that will be held on site of the project, just off the Atkinson Trail near the Three Mile Creek and Roaring Fork River confluence.

This project is made possible due to $55,000 in grant funding awarded to the City from the Pitkin County Healthy Rivers program. High use of this area over time has resulted in the loss of valuable recreation space and area for riparian plant species to thrive.

The City aims to develop a holistic and resilient plan that addresses current and future impacts from the use of this area while providing ecologically diverse and naturally sustainable habitats, improved water quality, trail connectivity, recreational access, and education on water as a valuable natural resource.

The open house will allow attendees to learn more about the project, tour the confluence area, and discuss potential long-term solutions with City staff and members of the Wright Water Engineers consultant team. Snacks and refreshments will be provided. Individuals are also encouraged to complete a survey on this project at <https://www.surveymonkey.com/r/3Mile>.
